

Become an FE Associates Consultant

If you're an experienced manager in the further education or skills sector, have a proven track record of achievement and are interested in becoming an interim consultant, we want to hear from you.

We take the time to understand your personal preferences and learn about your background, specific skills and experience to place you in a role that suits you.

The benefits of becoming a consultant with FE Associates include:

- A friendly and supportive team who will provide help throughout your assignment with regular contact via email, phone and face-to-face meetings
- The back-up of our team of consultants should you need help with a query outside of your specialism
- Competitive daily rates and prompt payment
- Opportunities to network with other FE Associates interim managers to share information and best practice.

If you're interested in becoming an associate, get in touch today. We'd like to hear from you.

Testimonials

A few words from our associates...

People often ask, "do you like being an interim?" and days like today remind us why I do. My thanks to all the staff at the College for their support, friendship and kindness during my six months with them.

Most notably to the Quality and Art teams that I've been privileged to look after. The thank you card came from them but applies equally to their work on my behalf.

No rest, though, for an FE Associate's Consultant - I'm already off to my next placement, which goes full-time on Monday.

Today is my last day as Interim MIS Director.

I've enjoyed my six months and would like to thank the fantastic MIS team and everyone at the College. Thanks also to Judith Richardson at FE Associates.

It has been a pleasure and a privilege to work with the fantastic team at the College: a genuinely exceptional College where the staff, managers and leaders work tirelessly to give the young people the very best chances for success. There are vacancies currently at the College, and I encourage any of my contacts to consider applying as I cannot recommend the people and culture highly enough. Also, thanks to Judith Richardson at FE Associates for the opportunity and support throughout.

Can I just say how responsive you are to messages, which is great! I have spoken to a few colleagues who have worked with FE Associates in the past, and they all have said the same thing to me, are you dealing with Judith? She is great!!!
